

UNED Inequality and Social Demography Seminar Series

at UNED Madrid, Associated Center Escuelas Pías

Program

Spring Semester 2022/23

Organized by Fabrizio Bernardi (UNED)

12th January Thursday from 19:00 to 20:30

Carlo Barone (Science Po, París)

Information, behavioral barriers and educational inequality: evidence from three field experiments

16th February Thursday from 19:00 to 20:30

Carlos J. Gil-Hernández (Joint Research Center – European Commission, Seville)
Making Up for Unlucky Genetics for (Non)Cognitive Skills? A Pre-Registered Gene-Environment Interaction Study on Educational Inequality

22nd March Wednesday from 19:00 to 20:30

Daniela Urbina (University of Oxford)

Mass Schooling, Gender, and Union Formation: Evidence from Latin America

20th April Thursday from 19:00 to 20:30

Tina Baier (University of Oslo)

Parental Separation and Children's Genetic Influences on Education across 20th Century Birth Cohort

11th May Thursday from 19:00 to 20:30

Florian Hertel (University of Hamburg)

All Black and White? Poverty risks in Europe at the intersections of class, race and gender from 19:00 to 20:30

Room 7, UNED Madrid, Associated Center Escuelas Pías (Lavapiés)

Calle Tribulete, 14 Madrid

The UNED Inequality and Social Demography seminar is held monthly or bi-monthly. The session of the spring semester 2022/23 benefits from the support of the Faculty of Political Science and Sociology at UNED and of Centro Asociado de la UNED en Madrid. Sede de Escuelas Pías.

To be included in mailing list and receive information on future sessions, please send an email to: Manuel Valdés (mvaldes@poli.uned.es)